

Captain Emma Barrett, Co-Executive Editor
Student, Master of Security Studies (M.S.S.) Concentration: Intelligence, Security Studies, and Analysis
ebarrett2@angelo.edu

Emma Barrett is an active duty Captain in the U.S. Air Force officer and graduate student at Angelo State University (ASU) pursuing a Master of Security Studies with a concentration in Intelligence, Security Studies, and Analysis. Prior to attending ASU, she received a Bachelor of Science degree in Biology from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and a commission through the Air Force Reserve Officers' Training Corps program in 2010. She served as the Co-Executive Editor for this issue of the Journal of Homeland and National Security Perspectives

Capt Barrett has served in a variety of assignments including deployments to Southwest Asia and Romania. Currently, she is serving as the Analysis Division Chief in the Intelligence Directorate, Headquarters 12th Air Force and Air Forces Southern, Davis-Monthan Air Force Base (AFB), Arizona. She is responsible for leading a division of analysts in conducting intelligence preparation of the environment on air, air defense, and terrorist threats in Latin America. She also directs and synchronizes intelligence analysis and production to create battlespace awareness for the 12th Air Force (Air Forces Southern) commander, staff, and subordinate units.